

CONTRIBUTORS

KEVIN ALTON

is a youth and family ministry writer, author, and speaker. He's the co-creator of the Wesleyan youth resource Youthworker Circuit, senior writer and editor for the Wesleyan youth ministry community Youthworker Movement, and executive editor of the independent source of news and commentary United Methodist Reporter. Kevin lives in the Georgia woods outside of Chattanooga, TN, with his wife Britta and their two sons, Grey & Penner.

SHAWN CASSELBERRY

is a passionate advocate for God's justice, author of God is in the City: Encounters of Grace and Transformation, and Executive Director for Mission Year, a leading national Christian ministry that invites 18-29 year olds to pursue a lifestyle of loving God and loving people in the city (www.missionyear.org). Shawn has a passion for mentoring young adults and mobilizing the church around issues of racial and economic justice. As an ordained minister, Shawn speaks all across the country at colleges, churches, and conferences calling people to love God and love their neighbors. Shawn has been married to his wife Jen for 14 years and lives in the North Lawndale neighborhood on Chicago's west side. You can follow Shawn on Twitter: @Scasselberry is a regional multiethnic director for InterVarsity Christian Fellowship/USA, overseeing multiethnic training and ministry development in IL and IN. She blogs at www.morethanservingtea.wordpress.com and partners with other bloggers, pastors, and Christian leaders to highlight and move the conversation forward on issues of race, ethnicity, and gender within the Church. Kathy and her family live in the north suburbs of Chicago.

KATHY KHANG

SANDRA MARIA VAN OPSTAL,

a second-generation Latina, is an author, speaker, and urban pastor who is passionate about creating spaces where voices from different cultures can come together in peace and overcome division. In her fifteen years with InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, Sandra mobilized thousands of college students for God's mission of reconciliation and justice in the world. Sandra's influence has also reached many others through her leadership and preaching on topics such of justice, poverty, racism, racial identity, reconciliation, and global mission. Sandra is a contributor to the Small Group Leader's Handbook (IVP) and author of The Mission of Worship (IVP). Her new book on multiethnic worship will be released Fall 2015. In addition to her national speaking, training, and writing, she serves as the Associate Pastor of Grace and Peace Community Church in Chicago. She can be followed on twitter at @sandravanopstal is the embodiment of living beyond the label. After overcoming the setbacks of his upbringing and the destructive choices of his youth, he is now a sought-out communicator, community strategist, and education consultant. If it is true that a story must be lived before it is told, Romal's story of REDEMPTION is as genuine as it is moving. He is a cultivator of hope and dignity, moving individuals from setbacks to success.

ROMAL TUNE

